Make Survey To Determine Need For Kindergarten

At a meeting of the Mokena Woman's club held July 11 the members voted to continue working toward sponsoring a private kindergarten for children of the Mokena area. To find how many families would be interested in this project the committee members passed out questionnaires to the public at their booth at the recent community picnic. Many parents and others expressed their approval.

The children acceptable to a kindergarten must be five years of age, eligible for entrance into the public school the following year. The cost of tuition would be as low as possible depending on the amount needed for rent, teachers and equipment cost. It would be non-profit and made available to as many children as possible.

State and county officials have been consulted and voiced their approval because the relief it would afford the lower grade teachers. Supt. Verne E. Crackel, Will County school head, advised the club members to consult with parents who have been sponsoring a successful kindergarten of this

Fireworks Show

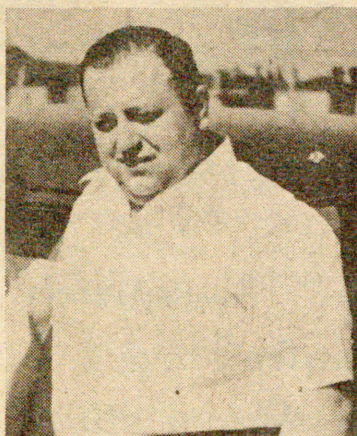

Mokena Men In Charge Of Display

BY JIM GRAINEY
"I guess I just like to shoot fireworks" was the only explanation offered by Jim Surovick, amiable Chairman of the Mokena Chamber of Commerce fireworks display committee, for the long hours and hard work he expends each year to make Mokena's Fourth of July fireworks display possible.

Surovick and his committee start planning for the display about the first of the year. Their first task is to wade through pages and pages of catalogues to find a variety of displays that will be impressive, yet fit within their limited budget.

When this is completed and the merchandise ordered, insurance policies must be purchased and permits secured from the Park and Village Boards.

"It's surprising," Surovick said, "how fast time sneaks up on you. Before you know it, it's time to order lumber and start digging post holes." He was referring to the tiring task of clearing ground and digging post holes for the display frames. All of this is presumably taken for granted by those who view the beautiful array of colors, sounds and designs that illuminate the playing field. Hours are spent by the group in stringing the explosives selves to obtain a maximum of safety and to cut the possibility of accidents to a minimum.

"But it's the night of the Fourth to which I really look forward. I'll have to admit I'm just a big kid (6 feet - 200 pounds plus) my hands get itchy to light that first fuse. The real thrill comes, however, when the crowd applauds with appreciation as the rockets zoom into the air and finally when everyone stands as Old Glory lights up the area."

William Kampe, Frankfort Supervisor, Dies Suddenly

Declare War On Weeds At Frankfort

Determined to get action the Frankfort village board at its meeting Monday night issued an ultimatum to weed growers -- get the crop cut by next Monday or the village will charge.

It was reported at a meeting this week that he has received numerous complaints about the high weeds that abound on vacant lots and in some instances on occupied property.

The trustees reported similar complaints and have been discussing it was decided to give the offenders until Monday to do the job themselves. After that the anti-weed ordinance will be put in force, it was stated.

Under the ordinance the village can have weeds cut when property owners fail to do so and charge the costs against the property.

The weeds in Frankfort are of all varieties, it was pointed out, thistles, nettles, ragweed and burdock, to name some, and are growing not only unsightly the board agreed, but are unhealthy. They urge property owners to cooperate and have the weeds cut immediately.

NI-Gas Ready To Extend Mains

The Northern Illinois Gas Co. is ready to start work on laying mains to serve prospective homes in the second unit of Lincoln Meadows, which lies north of U.S. 30 and west of U.S. 45.

Some 6,000 feet of six inch mains will be laid first as feeders. Plans call for 17,500 feet of 2-inch mains and those, with the 6-inch and some 4-inch mains will bring the total of pipe to be laid to approximately 24,000 feet.

William Kampe, 76, Frankfort township supervisor and dean of the Will county board, died Saturday, July 9, at St. James hospital Chicago Heights, following a heart attack.

He had been in apparently excellent health until Saturday morning when he became suddenly ill. An ambulance was called and Mr. Kampe was taken to the hospital. He arrived there about 10:30 and an hour later had expired.

Born on a farm in Frankfort township, Oct. 5, 1883, the son of John and Anna Kampe, he had resided in the township all his life.

On March 24, 1909 he was married to Miss Selma Elsner and the couple lived on a farm that had belonged to Mr. Kampe's father until 1918 when they moved into the village of Frankfort.

Mrs. Kampe died Feb. 13, 1928. William Kampe was in the cattle business from 1907 to 1944. Since that last date he was devoted all his time to public affairs and looking after his farming interests.

He was elected to the board of supervisors in 1928 and had served on that body continuously until his death. His current term would have expired in April, 1961. Mr. Kampe was the oldest member of the board in years of service--30 of them as of April this year.

As a supervisor he was a member of the right of way committee since 1933 and chairman since 1939; he also was chairman of the judiciary committee and of the forestry and improvements committee of the Forest Preserve board.

Mr. Kampe was intensely interested in increasing and improving recreational areas in the country. He was an ardent fisherman and a member of the Sportsmen's club.

He also was a member of the Lions club, the Frankfort Chamber of Commerce, Mt. Joliet Lodge No. 42, A.F. & A.M., and of St. Peter's United Church of Christ.

Mr. Kampe is survived by one son, Henry, of Joliet; a daughter Wilman, Mrs. William Kaminsky, and Charlotte, Mrs. Glenn Folkers Joliet; four grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Besides his wife he was preceded in death by his parents, one sister, Amanda, Mrs. Ben Mager, of Frankfort, and a brother Fred, of Chicago Heights.

Sewage Mess Referred To Health Board

Recent rains have caused surface water that in turn has brought about a condition in a low spot on Willow street in the Lincoln Meadows section of Frankfort that has now become a problem for the village health department.

At its meeting Monday night the Frankfort village board voted to have the health department take steps to end what neighbors describe as a nuisance.

There are three homes on Willow owned by a financial institution at Maywood are rental units. The septic fields supposed to serve them in disposing of sanitary wastes have become flooded with surface water, Trustee Milton Subert explained, and has caused the sewage to back up in the homes and area.

Elmo Draper, who lives nearby said he was affected by the condition and asked the village board for aid. He said that a family moved into one of the homes last week but moved out the same day when flushing the toilet caused to overflow on the floor.

When the sanitary sewer mains are installed in this area they will take care of the sewage but the surface water will continue to be a problem at various times, the board told Draper.

In the meantime the health department will endeavor to relieve the situation thru conference with the owner. The owner will be asked not to rent the three places until sewer connections have been made.

Couples Camp Reports NI-Gas Has Record-Breaking Year

Out On Trip Thru East

MRS. DELORES ANDERSON
Tel. HU 5-3651

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Crisman and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Sullivan have returned from a two weeks camping trip thru the New England states. They visited Niagara Falls at New York, Vermont and Maine, Cape Cod and Plymouth, Mass., and Valley Forge, Pa. Mrs. Clara McCann stayed at the Crisman home with the children during their absence.

Marcel Halik returned last Friday evening from a week's business trip to Madison, Wisc.

Debbie White spent last week vacationing in Valparaiso, Ind. with her aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Domke and family. Her sister Jay spent a week with them earlier.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Halik celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary, June 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Wescott returned recently from Saugatuck, Mich. where they spent a few days with friends.

Mrs. Walter Mattes, Mrs. John Walsh, Mokena, and Mrs. Viola Corp with her brother Matt Mattes of Chicago, motored to Three Rivers, and Allegan, Mich., recently where they visited with relatives.

Record-breaking achievements of Northern Illinois Gas Company continue, according to, the utility's president, Marvin Chandler. He was speaking at the annual meeting of stockholders in Evanston township high school where his review of company operations indicated last year's upward trend had continued into early 1960.

Operating revenues in 1959 reached the $100 million mark for the first time in NI-Gas' history, Chandler recalled, while earnings per share of common stock were $1.80. Stockholders learned that revenues for the 12-months ended May 31 were over $121 million and earnings for the same period climbed to a record $2.13 per share.

Principal reasons for the higher operating revenues and earnings, Chandler said, were the increased supply of natural gas which permitted NI-Gas to add 78,000 house heating customers the past year and colder weather (two per cent colder than normal).

Since the first of the year NI-Gas has been able to connect all residential space heating customers, without waiting, and issue gas heat permits for any new building. The only waiting list left is for large existing buildings. The company hopes the restriction on these will be removed in 1960.

In addition to daily pipeline supplies next winter, NI-Gas will be able to meet peak cold day requirements by withdrawing up to 210 million cubic feet per day from the Herscher underground storage reservoir near Troy Grove (about 75 miles southwest of Chicago). The Troy Grove reservoir, which has been under development for nearly three years, will be used next winter for the first time.

Chandler told stockholders the increase from the $180 million five-year (1960-64) construction budget to $200 million was due to the accelerated underground storage program and the need to increase the capacity of the company's distribution system to serve the growing space heat load, especially of commercial customers.

About 75 per cent is expected to be split bond is 15c, including approximately $10 million for a pipeline from the Troy Grove storage reservoir to NI-Gas' present distribution system near La Grange. This nearly 75 mile, 30-inch pipeline is now under construction and will be completed in September.

New capital requirements for this $200 million five-year program are estimated at about $140 million. About $15 million was raised in January by the sale of preferred stock. In July, NI-Gas plans to sell $30 million of 25-year first mortgage bonds through competitive bidding. Chandler indicated that no further public financing is planned for 1960.

Commenting on the growth of the company's service territory, Chandler recalled that the population in this area has increased nearly 60 per cent since 1950. The total number of natural gas customers is now about 700,000, an increase of more than 80 per cent during the past decade. Residential space heat customer totals during this same period jumped from about 68,000 to 388,000. The average annual therm use per residential customer has risen from 547 to about 1,300 in 10 years.

Chandler mentioned that the 1961 stockholder meeting was scheduled to be held at McCormick Place, Chicago's new exposition hall now under construction.

Tractor Tests Show Ways To Save Money

Here's some information that can save farmers money. It comes from Kansas State university of agriculture and applied science, where a performance study on 50 typical farm tractors was completed recently.

Failure to maintain an engine properly can cost the owner more fuel to produce less power. The average tractor in the Kansas State test was producing only seventy-five percent of its maximum power and it took one-third more fuel than normal to do it. Improper preventive maintenance is the primary culprit, with the following four points topping the list:

(1) Air Cleaner. Of the tractors tested, one out of ten had air cleaners that were choked with dirt and chaff. Servicing their cleaners resulted in an average power gain of 7.6% and an 11.4% decrease in fuel consumption.

(2) Carburetors. Adjustments were needed in almost 75% of the cases. On 23 engines found running "rich", proper adjustment decreased fuel consumption by 9.5%. (In some cases, however, excessive leaning of the carburetor may actually increase fuel consumption at full load.)

(3) Ignition Timing. Over half the tractors were found to need timing adjustment. This produced an average gain in maximum power of 5.3% with fuel consumption decreasing by the same percentage.

(4) Spark Plugs. New plugs were installed in 90% of the tractors for an average power gain of 5.3% and a 6.1% decrease in fuel consumption. In seven of the test tractors, plugs were found to be in such bad condition they caused misfiring under load. In these engines new plugs increased power 21.5% and decreased consumption 14.2%. Governors on 80% of the tractors were off. Adjustments or repairs increased horsepower 9% and cut fuel consumption by 5%.

There are two rings fitted out at the Vally place. To reach it one may travel on Cedar road to Ash street and there turn east. The street ends at the Vally farm. There will be signs to point the way.

All arrangements for the show have been completed, according to Mr. Vally. The cattle necessary for the affair have been rented be-

Treasurers Report Shows Mokena Is In "The Black"

The annual report of Durward L. Fant, village treasurer of Mokena, shows that total receipts of the general fund for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1959 and ending June 30, 1960, came to $35,796.55. This figure includes the cash balance on hand July 1, 1959, which was $8,430.04.

Expenditures for the period from this fund were $29,142.71, which left a cash balance on June 30, 1960, of $6,653.84. Two major items of expense were principal and interest on the general obligation bond account of $9,408.75 and salaries of $8,180. Of the salaries paid out of the general fund $4,463 went to police.

The half cent sales tax brought in $9,641.77 (13 checks) which was more than a fourth of the entire receipts. The amount received from taxes was $5,573; traffic fines accounted for $1,956.95.

In the water and sewer fund there was a $19,072 balance as of July 1,

Donations To Chile Relief Reach $1,400

In keeping with the nation's tradition of generosity, the people of Joliet and Will county were quick to rally behind President Eisenhower's appeal for help for the victims of earthquakes, tidal waves, volcanic eruptions that have plagued Chile since May 21.

Contributions to date from local church groups, civic clubs, women's organizations, unions and generous individuals have made it possible for Will County chapter American Red Cross to send $1400 in cash to help Chileans back on their feet. On June 30 the chapter Production Service Volunteers shipped a quota of shawls and sweaters which were made from materials donated by local merchants.

Even at this late date - nearly a month after the first earthquake in Chile - it is still not possible to determine the full extent of the damage to property or the total needs of the people in the widespread disaster area, according to workers report to the Red Cross.

Earthquakes, not so violent as those in May, continue to disrupt relief operations.

Contributions for Chilean Relief may be sent to Will County chapter, American Red Cross, 155 Scott street, Joliet.

Use Surplus Material To Repair Streets In Mokena

The Mokena village board learned, at its regular session July 5, that June police fines reached a high for 1960. The total according to the official report was $552.

Other business at the meeting was routine, Ralph Yunker, representing the village for the Mulford Engineering Service, Chicago Heights, asked the village board to designate additional streets to be resurfaced with the surplus materials from the work just completed on the west section of Front street from Wolf Rd. to the village limits.

He stated that streets most in need should be repaired first, other than those scheduled for major repairs. "It's impossible," Yunker said, to estimate the number of streets the oil and other materials aside for reserves and contingencies. There was also a transfer of $5,000 to the general fund.

Total expenditures from the fund were $42,615 leaving a balance to begin the current fiscal year of $12,087.89.

The report in detail appears elsewhere in this issue.

No More Boat Drill For Third Street Dwellers

A flood of fresh (hard) water that was flooding the yard of Jack Horras yard at 164-3rd st., in Mokena and causing village officials some concern about the summer water storage, has been plugged.

The miniature gusher that appeared, suddenly at the northeast corner of Division and Third, was producing several hundreds of gallons of good, clean, hard water every day. Residents in the area around the Horras home were becoming concerned by the daily increase of water seeping from the lake in Jack's front yard.

Neighbors were beginning to fill sandbags and build canoes for the expected emergency while village maintenance superintendent Fred Steinhagen and his crew worked tirelessly trying to locate the mysterious source.

In the meantime, Clyde Yunker repaired a broken pipe in the yard of Harry Lawrence's property at 220 N. Division and the gusher disappeared as suddenly as it appeared.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Blames Wet Season For Increase On Corn Pests

The black cutworm now looms as a bigger threat to corn than usual because of Illinois' siege of wet weather.

The adult moths of the cutworm usually lay their eggs in low, wet spots. Since so many fields are completely water-soaked, egg-laying is more general this year.

Cutworm survival will also increase under these conditions, resulting in more severe corn injury.

This warning comes from Steve Moore, entomologist with the University of Illinois and Illinois Natural History Survey.

The true armyworm, which attacks grasses, small grains and corn, is also causing more trouble. Wet weather eliminates parasites and diseases that normally hold down the true armyworm population.

The combination of wet weather and late-planted corn may also create an armyworm problem this fall. This little fellow especially likes younger corn. Therefore, when he develops late this summer, late-planted corn will be just his size.

The weather has not directly affected first-generation corn borers. But it may indirectly affect second-generation borers. Why? Simply because the borers can infest so many late-planted fields. On the other hand, borers may not seriously damage any one field, because they have their choice of many susceptible fields.

In contrast, wet weather makes some insects unhappy. Grasshoppers and chinch bugs, for example, prefer warmer and dryer weather. So the chances are that they'll cause little trouble this year, it was said.

Now is the time for one to kick the TV habit.

That is if one is sincere and really wants to get off the stuff. It will be difficult and there will be times when one is thinking of nothing and doing nothing that one's fingers will automatically reach for the switch.

And there will be times when one will find it almost unbearable not to turn a set on to find out if the heroes are still besting the villains; if the cigaret and beer trade is holding up; the stage still running to Laramie or NBC and Jack Paar are still cosy.

But stick with it and you can win. You can strike off the shackles that now holds millions fast in darkened living rooms and be free again to talk without being shushed.

It will be easier now to shake the habit, what with most of the programs scheduled for the summer months, running to re-runs or pilot films.

-0-
However, persons who can sit thru all these bang-bang efforts a second or third time are in pretty bad shape and one who not only can sit thru these repeats but looks forward to them you can write off as hopeless and incurable.

-0-
There are, of course, social viewers--those fortunate people who can take their TV or leave it alone. They don't care if they get tuned in late or are cut off early, or if their visitors talk or just grunt and settle down to watch the program.

They can be interrupted in the middle of any program without any change in blood pressure what soever.

They can turn off a western or a detective epic right smack in the center and never wonder if maybe the hero finally got what was coming to him or just what did happen.

TV is no problem for these social viewers but one can readily see that if the industry is to continue to grow it must depend upon the addicts.

-0-
The addicts will look at anything. They start early in the day and continue thru most of the night. Addicts who work, of course, have to struggle thru those hours when they are away from a set but they make up for it by giving themselves in front of a screen on their free time.

-0-
Persons who formerly wouldn't have been caught dead in a movie house specializing in B, C, D and E class films have seen 'em all now--not once, but several times on television.

One thing about TV for the credit side is that it has taught people not to jump to conclusions. There was a time when if a person came out of a saloon with a dazed or vacant look those who saw him put the expression down to drink.

That doesn't hold today. Nowadays many a person homeward bound stops at taverns along the way to catch up with his favorite TV serial. Maybe it's not on at the first one or even the second so he keeps popping in bistros until he finds the right one.

The dazed vacant look comes from eyestrain caused by watching TV in darkened bars.

A saloonkeeper who serves warm beer has a better chance of business survival than one without a TV set today.

-0-
And so many of them are color sets. But why not? A saloon is the best place to watch color TV. If the colors don't register and the reds, and the whites, and the browns, the yellows and the greens have to fight their way out of a bluish overcast--who cares. The drinker will attribute it to something he ate and the addict will not have noticed.

All is grist in his mill.

"Dandelion is another thing which, if given an inch, will take a yard."—Edith A. Van Sant.

passed by this time.

Washington News Letter

By Cong. N. M. Mason

In 1921-22, as a result of communistic policies in Russia, several million Russian people starved to death because of a shortage of food.

Herbert Hoover's "American Relief Administration", with the help of American religious and philanthropic groups, saved millions of Russians, communists and non-communists alike, from death by starvation.

In 1932-33 there was another famine in Russia, a famine that killed off at least 4 million Russian peasants. It was the direct result of Stalin's action to impose collective farming upon the Russian farm people.

Also under Stalin's rule some 10 million people were sent to slave labor camps during the 25-years reign. These victims of communism perished or were worked to death cutting timber, digging canals, mining coal and salt, building railroads, and mining gold. Horribly treated, overworked, and underfed, they died by the thousands and were buried in trenches--not graves.

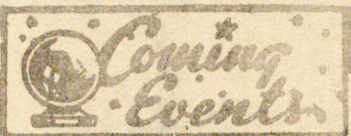

Two experienced journalists who recently toured Eastern Europe and Russia report that in Russia today, especially in the villages and country districts--where over half of the Soviet people live--they still live in simple huts, travel on poor antiquated roads, and have none of the conveniences that the American farmer takes for granted.

There are two kinds of government today, a despotic government and a democratic government. The difference between them is abject slavery on the one hand and freedom on the other. It is the difference between Dictatorship and Democracy.

FEDERAL AID
For every dollar of federal aid or "grants in aid" that Illinois receives today from the federal government, Illinois taxpayers must send $1.60 to Washington--$1.60 in return for $1 of federal aid. Is that a good deal for Illinois taxpayers?

Yet shortsighted city dads in Illinois are asking for federal aid for city improvements of various kinds; and shortsighted school men in Illinois are asking for federal school aid to build school buildings and to help pay teachers' salaries. Is that using good business sense?

If a street-corner fakir would offer $1 in return for every $1.60 you gave him, how much business

Countryside News And Views

The most frequent question coming to us from homeowners this week was; "What causes all of this moisture to come out of the trunk of my elm tree?" The answer: A disease called "Wetwood". More detailed information on this disease may be obtained by contacting my office.

Harvest of wheat will be approaching soon. Shortly thereafter oats will be headed from the field to the grain bins. To avoid problems with stored grain insects, clean out the old grain from this bins and apply a spray of 1 1/2% premium grade Malathion.

M. P. Britton, Plant Pathologist, University of Illinois College of Agriculture and I made the third plant disease survey this past week. This survey was confined to vegetable crops, and no serious disease problems were found.

I visited the onion weed control demonstration on the Bieshoer farm recently. The pre-emergence treatments have lost their effectiveness and some of the plots have high healthy weeds growing in them. Part of the plot was treated with post-emergence chemicals which did a good job of killing weeds. Some of the materials also were rather rough on the onions. These materials are brand new and one or two of them show promise. Further testing will be needed, however.

Onion maggot flies are abundant. These pests can be controlled with applications of DDT, Diazinon, Malathion or Parathion. Handle Parathion with care.

Time has run out for corn. Only corn earmarked for silage could be planted this late. If you still have a few acres unplanted, Chippewa soybeans can be planted up to July 10.

Watch late planted corn in low spots in the field for damage by black cutworm. If damage is noted, treatment with 1/2 lb. of Diel-drin, 1/4 lb. Endrin or 3 lbs. of toxaphene will probably be profitable.

Brand Names Are Important

Large numbers of the drugs used in prescriptions are trademarked. Of late, this long-established practice has come in for heavy criticism. It is argued that it is unfair to the user, in that it increases the cost of prescriptions and that, therefore, drugs should be listed only under generic names.

The argument, no doubt, has convinced a good many people who haven't been exposed to the other side of the coin. There is another side--and it is based on compelling and carefully reasoned facts and principles.

First of all, the defenders of trademarked drugs point out, it is hard to believe that physicians, with their personal responsibility for the welfare of the patient, would release from their control specification of the exact medication which, in their judgement, is best in each particular case. There can be wide and highly important variations between drugs which have the same generic therapeutic agent. They can have different inactive ingredients, special excipients, vehicles, and bases. The manufacturer's trade name often helps to identify the distinctive characteristics of particular medicines, and is thus of definite service to physician and patient. For these reasons, little change could be expected in the nature of drug prescribing or in the cost of prescriptions even if the generic name system were instituted. Prescribing doctors would keep to the brands in which they had confidence.

Of course, it would be possible to establish some system of compulsory licensing of patents, along with compulsion on the physician and pharmacist to supply the cheapest drug on the market, at the expense of other considerations. The results of this would be several.

Most obviously, grave questions of the reliability of drugs would arise. Worst of all, perhaps, the incentive to find and produce new and needed drugs--often an extremely costly and risky matter--would be lowered to the point of elimination. So would the incentive to build extra quality and safety into a product, in order to enhance reputation and sales. The great goal would be price-cutting--which is almost inevitably accompanied by corner cutting and deteriorating quality in any line of endeavor.

Some may question this point, on the grounds that government organizations, notably the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, would provide all needed protection. But the FDA is not set up to approve or inspect every lot of every drug--a task which would demand huge resources of money and manpower. For the most part, it can only spot-check items on the pharmacists' shelves from time to time. In the interim, it is certainly clear, great quantities of substandard medications could have been taken, at unknown cost in health and physical welfare. After all, no matter what the laws involved, the most important safeguard the public has is the integrity of manufacturers, and the present brand name system preserves this.

Many authorities have spoken out in defense of brand names. Here are two examples. Dr. Albert W. Holland, former medical director of the FDA has said: "The naive belief that if the product was not good the FDA would prohibit its sale is just not realistic...It is completely impossible for the FDA to check every batch of every manufacturer that is marketed. Hence, the integrity and reputation of the manufacturer assume unusual significance where drugs and health products are concerned."

The Dean of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy recently wrote in the American Journal of Pharmacy: "The most serious aspect in connection with the widespread use of generic names and efforts to make the use of generic names popular is the encouragement it would give to some of the most unprincipled duplicators and counterfeiters of pharmaceuticals on the American scene. These under cover companies have always been with us and the inroads which they have made on the sales of pharmaceuticals by our legitimate and ethical companies have at times been staggering....These companies originate solely because of the cupidity of their owners who depend upon equal cupidity and greed on the part of certain pharmacists..."

Frittering Away Your Money

The House of representatives voted the National Science Foundation in the sum of $160 million for this fiscal year. Shortly thereafter, the Foundation made a grant of $50,000 to a university for a study of bird sounds.

That brought an acid and apt comment from Representative Gross of Iowa: "Is it too much to hope the day will come when some foundation, richly endowed by Congress, will make a study and record for posterity the anguished sounds of taxpayers when they read how their money is being frittered away?"

Charges Congress Puts Politics Above Its Work

Fourth district congressman, Edward J. Derwinski (R) explained the reasons behind the recess of Congress July 3rd as a move which placed politics above the interest of the American taxpayer. The House will reconvene August 15th. The Senate will return a week earlier, after both major political parties have selected their presidential candidates. "Obviously," Derwinski elaborated, "any consideration of legislation at that time will be politically motivated."

"I have on numerous occasions," Derwinski commented, "pointed out to concerned citizens that in an election year, legislation is processed to purchase the vote of special interest groups at the expense of the taxpaying public. In my humble opinion," the Congressman continued, "Congress could have easily completed all its necessary business by June 30." He further explained that the needless Civil Rights filibuster in the Senate and

Conservatives Organize

Sen. O'Neill Heads Illinois Group

A new organization has been formed, the Northern Illinois Conservatives, Inc., and those persons dedicated to the political principles of conservatism are invited to become members.

State Senator Lottie Holman O'Neill, (R) of the 41st district made up of Will and DuPage counties, is temporary chairman.

The goal is 5,000 members and Sen. O'Neill said she believes that number could be recruited in DuPage county alone but organization is seeking support from throughout the state of people who would "restore the pattern of government upon which the country was founded."

"We do not aim primarily at famous names or people of wealth and influence," Sen. O'Neill said. "They are welcome but we hope to have the unknown people at the grass roots join us. There are no dues, everything is voluntary. We believe it is the only way to combat the forces of unseen government now in control in Washington and elsewhere."

The group explains that the name was decided upon because of the definition of "conserve—to prevent loss, decay or injury." Stating that because the members believe "certain practices in the country tend to bring a loss, injury or decay to the Republic" they have adopted the following set of principles,

"We support: State rights.

Free Enterprise.
Freedom of the individual from government controls.

A conservative American President of the United States.

"We oppose: The United Nations in its present form.

The federal income tax.

Excessive Foreign aid.

Government competition with private interests."

In a resolution adopted by the organization, a copy of which is to be sent to the Illinois state central committees of both major parties prior to the state and national conventions, it is stated that the Northern Illinois Conservatives, Inc., are dedicated to the preservation of our form of government, and pledged to combat reckless spending of the country's resources; so-called revenue "reform"; and government controls."

Sen. O'Neill added that persons who would like to become member of the group are invited to send their names to her at her home, 741 Summit st, Downers Grove.

FAMILY PUTS 2,000 MILES A MONTH ON CORVAIR THINKS IT'S MARVELOUS GAS MILEAGE "OUT OF THIS WORLD"

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kahelin of Plant City, Florida, couldn't be happier with the way their new Corvair has worked out as a combination family and business car. On their newspaper distribution route alone they travel more than 400 miles a week over all kinds of roads. Little wonder they're so pleased with the gas mileage they've been getting — "at least twenty-three miles to the gallon with an automatic transmission . . . and we've had no trouble with our Corvair." The Kahelins have equally good things to say about Corvair's easy-going comfort and unique convenience features. They especially like the way the fold-down seat doubles as a built-in baby sitter.

If you haven't driven it yet, you don't know what a delight driving can be. Its steering, response, traction and roadability are unique because it's a unique car — the only U.S. car with an air-cooled airplane-type rear engine, transaxle and independent suspension at all four wheels. Be in on the know. Find out what delightful differences this advanced design makes.

4-H NEWS

SNIP 'N SNACK Vacation time is a busy time for the Green Garden Snip 'N Snack
4-H club.

A Barnyard Swing, sponsored by the federation, is slated for July 16 at the Peotone fairgrounds.

A reminder that the summer dues—60 cents— are payable to Sharon Homerdig was given to the members.
At the June 16 meeting Kay Canavino reported on the flower show. Talks or demonstrations were given by Janet Johnson, Gloria Heisner, Ruth Rainford, Jeannie Helsner, Beverly Guiden-zoph, JoAnn Schmidt, Sharon Homerdig, Frances Forbes, Darlene Diment, Beverly Torok, and Dianne Forbes.

Beverly Torok led singing and gave a musical stunt. An electrical stunt was given by some of the younger members.

The Adventures in Cooking class met in Mable Krapf's home with junior leaders Carol and Bonnie Torok. The girls gave talks and demonstrations pertaining to this project. The following meal was prepared by the girls. Macaroni and cheese, Sally Christensen; creamed peas, Donna Barlow; waldorf salad, Suzanne Nagel; deviled eggs, Carol Sippel; foundation cake, Jeanne Borms and spiced milk, junior leaders.

Carol Torok, reporter.
BUSY HOUR
Twelve members of the club attended Day Camp, Tuesday at the Valley View Farm picnic grounds.
The girls were at camp from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., and enjoyed swimming, craftwork, dinner and supper and heard an interesting talk on Safety.

BLUE BIRD
The New Lenox club met in the Methodist church, June 22. Talks were given by Connie Corp,
"Buying a pattern" and Judy Ter-muende, "Better Lighting." Demonstrations were given by Cheryl Stoner on "Cinnamon nut french waffle toast"; Judy Termuende,
"Buttermilk waffles"; Mary Riley,
"Oatmeal drop cookies" and Judy Termuende "Finding the lengthwise grain of material." Plans were discussed for day camp at Valley View Farm.

TOWN HALL BLUE WINNERS
The last meeting of the Town Hall Blue Winners 4-H club was held at Bobby Homerdig's home (June 20). 4-H T shirts were discussed and ordered.

The club tour was set for July 24. Members will meet at the Green Garden town hall.
Talks were given by Bobby Homerdig on watering gardens; Wayne Christensen discussed the corn harvest.

Self Help

In Sydney, N. S., Joseph White, 91, told officials to take him off the unemployment insurance rolls. The sprightly, gray-haired carpenter said that after six months out of work he has a job with a contractor.

Business & Finance

BYMAURICE P. ANGLAND
Fortune magazine in its capsule analysis of business news expresses opinion that general business is on the increase in many sectors.
The magazine states, "Small increases in so many factors tend to be mutually reinforcing and to have a cumulative effect."

"The recovery from the 1958 recession is now two years old, but it was of course drastically interrupted by the steel strike last summer. Now forward momentum seems to be again building up into a rounded expansion."

The opinion is expressed that present moderate inventory accumulation is about the minimum needed to handle business increases which seem likely. The magazine goes on to state that even a slight upward nudge in defense spending would insure an increase in business activity.

Many of the commentators are not as restrained in their predictions of defense spending increase.

Reasons given for belief that our defense spending will increase are (1)—the results of the summit meeting force us to look to our own strength rather than rely to a great extent on overseas bases.

(2) that Russia has gained her present position thru driving hard bargains, being ruthless and without fear of using military pressure to achieve her ends and without much in the way of gifts.

During political campaigns, political hopefuls must emphasize those points which they believe to be the hopes of the electorate even tho the campaigner is well aware of likely hard facts of life that may not be so comforting.

Mr. Eisenhower after his return from the summit talks, stated, "we must tighten our belts." There was little public elaboration of this statement, but many commentators have assumed he meant tighter defense spending and no tax reductions.

A recent U. S. Department of Commerce chart of processed food prices, shows the wholesale index raising and pushing against retail trend. This would indicate a likely increase in processed food prices. For some time the food price index has kept the cost of living down as many other items in this index have increased.

Shares of some of the plane makers are attracting attention as they have been depressed by the change from airplanes to missiles and projected cut back of the missile program. After congress returns, it seems unlikely that any serious consideration will be given to over all defense reductions—particularly after the election. Electronic portions of missile costs are, however, heavy and plane makers are forced into the electronic activity.

The Financial World states that May set a new peak in the number of people at work - 67.2 million.
Automation is steadily progressing, but Labor Department statisticians predict that total employed in 1960 would better the previous high mark of 67.6 in July of last year. This also means a higher disposable income for savings and luxuries.

Auto sources are pleased to note reducing foreign car sales as against the American compact car registrations.

Business spending on new plant and equipment this year is expected to be only slightly below the $37 billion predicted by the Department of Commerce. Reduction in spending by airplane firms and oil companies was offset somewhat by increases in food, beverage, textile, and paper industries.
